■ 'Classic English' is how furniture maker Martin Moore describes its signature style. All the company's timeless pieces are designed and made in its Yorkshire workshops using traditional techniques and high-quality materials, and items can be made to order, purpose designed and fitted out. The firm also makes additional storage areas and bespoke spaces for appliances, creating a new level of organisation in your kitchen. Martin Moore, 176 Westbourne Grove, London W11 (0845 180 0015; martinmoore.com).

■ Hossein Rezvani has designed a new rug collection inspired by the Jardin Majorelle in Marrakesh. The gardens, which were saved from development in the 1980s and then lived in by Yves Saint Laurent and Pierre Bergé, are known for their bright primary-coloured buildings: the inspiration behind the collection. Using traditional geometric motifs and bold patterns in vivid colours, the 'Heriz Majorelle' range reflects the vibrancy of the Moroccan oasis. Hossein's rugs are all hand-woven from the finest wools and purest natural silks by expert craftsmen in Iran. There are no mechanical or chemical treatments in the process, and only natural dyes, such as walnut shell, are used. The collection will be available from April 2017. ■ Bathroom specialist CP Hart has teamed up with east London brand House of Hackney to create two stunning room sets in the former's flagship showroom in Waterloo, examining the theme of 'Adventures in the Urban Jungle'. The partnership between the two quintessentially British companies, which share a passion for beautiful, high-quality, functional products, continues with the launch of more products exploring the possibilities of modern bathrooms in city homes. CP Hart, Newnham Terrace, Hercules Rd, London SE1 (020 7902 5250; cphart.co.uk).

■ Design firm Jonathan Browning Studios was founded in 2003 and now produces some of the finest-quality bronze, brass and steel creations. Each piece is made using the lost-wax casting method, starting its journey as a carved piece of wood. A wax mould is then made, into which molten metal is poured. This technique ensures that every item retains the highest level of detail. Whether a chandelier, sconce, torchier, table lamp or piece of furniture, each piece is manufactured to a standard rarely seen today.
